HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It contains a Gutta Percha case to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be attached in an instant and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JANUARY 24

Congressional—Virginia Admitted

WASHINGTON, Jan 24.—The Reconstruction Committee this morning agreed to report the Virginia bill as passed by the Senate with recommendations that it be adopted by the House. The House afterwards passed the Senate Virginia bill without amendment by a strict party vote.

Senator Cameron presented the credentials of his colleague Mr Morrill and the usual oath of office was administered.

A motion was offered directing the Judiciary Committee to report to the Senate by what authority Gen. Terry [illegible] the Military Commission to inquire into the ineligibility of members of the Georgia Legislature. Mr Sumner objected and the resolution went over.

Mr Wilson offered a joint resolution granting a pension to the widow of President Lincoln. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr Morton's bill to provide for a national currency and the redistribution of circulation was taken up. Mr Sherman said the bill presented first a partial equalization and distribution of Bank currency among the States and that Free banking on a coin basis, with the present distribution of Bank circulation was grossly and palpably unfair to three States—Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, which with 3,000,000 population, had $70,000,000 of circulation. In the rapidly growing Western States where credit was most needed has scarce three dollars to the inhabitant, while the Southern States were practically without banking circulation. He said this unfair distribution grew out of the palpable violation of the law by the Comptroller of the Currency and the Secretary of the Treasury. Mr Sherman proceeded at length to review the provisions of former banking laws and the currency for National Banks. He referred to the advantages of the national banking system over State banks. With the correction of the injustice of distribution it would be the best banking system that could be adopted. The West demands more circulation. The East only urges a monopoly, demands a contraction for three years. The remedy for this has been sought. Mr Sherman said that in no event during the resumption of specie payments would he favor an increase of bank circulation without withdrawing circulation of some other form to avoid expansion of the currency. Two measures had been proposed, first the withdrawal of greenbacks but the House would not consent to this, another plan was that adopted by the Senate committee, the withdrawal of the 3 per cent certificates now held by banks, reserved in place of legal tenders. The remaining proposition of the bill authorized for banking on coin notes. The banks to be authorized will be organized only in New York, on the Pacific coast and in the South where large transactions are based on gold values. The bill would be followed in due time by a bill funding the public debt and for the revision of the internal revenue tax and tariff.

Among a large number of bills introduced were the following: Fixing compensation of letter carriers at $1,200; for an increase of the number of Judges of the Supreme Court; to regulate the mode of determining the ratification of the Constitutional amendments; granting 160 acres of land to soldiers who served in the late war; to adjust the payment of pensions on a gold basis; granting agricultural school lands to the several Territories.

The reply of the General of the Army to the resolution of Mr Brooks, asking authority for certain military officers acting in connection with the Georgia Legislature was read. It states that the military are not acting as a committee, but as a board outside the Legislature to assist General Terry in the execution of his most unpleasant office, the duties of which were imposed on him by Congress.

Mr Brooks declared that the military authorities had no power whatever to interfere with the Legislature of Georgia, that it was an entire assumption of power on the part of Gen Terry and entirely lawless. He hoped he was not misinformed that Gen Sherman and the President were about sending special messengers to go and correct these illegal proceedings.

Mr Butler defended the action of Gen. Terry as simply carrying out the reconstruction act and laws of Congress. He declared authoritatively that he had been and would be sustained by the Administration.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Jan 22. Judge Fisher in the criminal court, passed sentence on the Baltimore Railroad besides imposing fines of $1,500 and $1,000 requiring it to remove various railroad nuisances now obstructing the streets and to fill up excavations. The city thus triumphs over that corporation.

A committee consisting of J W Forney, W W Cochrane and other prominent citizens visited the President to-day representing business interests of the District, regardless of politics. They desired the President to call the special attention of Congress to the fact that the continued agitation of the question of the removal of the Capital was affecting the interests injuriously and paralyzing the development of the District. The President said he wished to see the United States Government made such as to arouse the pride of the citizens of the Republic to an extent acceptable at least to a proper consideration of the old world. He therefore suggested that special attention be called to the fact that we are governed to a great extent by the laws which existed in Maryland when the District was formed, and that while that State has altered her laws to conform to the progress of the age but little change has been made here, and as a consequence many efforts are powerless for good. At the conclusion of the interview the President stated that he appreciated the disadvantages under which citizens of the District labored, and would help them out to the extent of his power.

WASHINGTON Jan 22.—Caldwell was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by [illegible] and brought before a police magistrate who remanded him till Monday.

A dispatch from Ottawa says an order in the Council has been passed disallowing the Ontario supply bill in consequence of its conflicting with certain portions of the union act. An extra session of the Legislature will probably be called to amend the bill.

The sub Committee on Foreign Affairs have prepared a long report on Paraguayan question.

The recognition of the Red River league by the Hudson Bay Company as the only legitimate Government in Winnipeg has excited much conversation in this city. No force will be attempted against the Provinces. The rapid course of events are towards annexation. It was announced that such a bill will be passed in the February session of the Dominion Parliament. Great Britain may be induced to guarantee 5 per cent dividend on the stock of a railway. The Brokers Coming to the Scratch

Operators in Wall street who forgot to pay the tax on their money making capital, are rapidly discharging their obligations to the Government. Yesterday one legal representative of the brokers paid $10,000 into court on the behalf of his clients and other checks will be handed in to-day. It is believed that the whole amount that will be paid by brokers against whom suits have been commenced, will be over $100,000.

It is stated that some $4,000,000 worth of the stock of the Chicago and Rock Island railroad have been quietly put in the market and Wall street much to the disgust of certain parties waiting for a rise in that stock.

From the South

ATLANTA Jan 22. Gen Terry has written a letter declining the request of the Democratic members to have the eligibility question submitted to the State Supreme Court on the ground that the Judges of that Court had already been individually consulted and given an opinion on the subject, and that therefore the ordinary rule of law which forbids a Judge to decide upon matters on which he has been consulted as counsel, should be followed here.

The Chinese Question in Congress

PROTECTION OF THE CHINESE—EQUAL RIGHTS AND NO DISCRIMINATING TAXATION

[From Washington (Jan. 10) Cor S. F. Bulletin.

Under the title of "a bill to secure all persons the equal protection of the laws," Senator Stewart introduced a bill designed to extend to the Chinese the benefits of the act of April 9, 1866 "to protect all persons in the United States in their civil rights, and furnish the means of their vindication." It provides that "all persons within the jurisdiction of the United States, Indians not taxed excepted, shall have the same rights in every State and Territory to make and enforce contracts, to sue, be parties, give evidence and to the full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of person and property as is enjoyed by white citizens, and shall be subject to like punishments, pains and penalties, taxes licenses and exactions of every kind and none other—any law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. No tax or charge shall be imposed and enforced by any State upon any person emigrating thereto from a foreign country which is not equally imposed and enforced upon every person emigrating to such State from any other foreign country and any law of any State in conflict with this provision is hereby declared null and void." The second section of the bill provides that any person violating the foregoing provisions under color of any law or ordinance whatever shall on conviction be subject to punishment by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the Court.

He refers to and makes part of this bill all the provisions of the Act of April 9, 1866, except the first and second sections thereof.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Judiciary, of which Senator Stewart is a member.

THE OTHER VIEW—AFFIRMATION OF THE RIGHTS OF STATES TO DISCOURAGE CHINESE IMMIGRATION.

On the other hand Mr. Johnson has introduced in the House the following joint resolution on which he intends to make a speech on the first opportunity, when he says he will discuss the question from the standpoint of political economy alone and avoid all reference to politics.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, etc., That any State suffering injury from filthy habits, degrading vices or customs practiced by Chinese residents thereof, may, if such vices, habits or customs become a nuisance, protect itself by State legislation, notwithstanding the existence of any treaty between the United States and the Chinese Government.

Resolved further, That the free importation of Chinese laborers and debased and abandoned females is not for the best interest of the country and therefore should not be encouraged. But on the contrary, should be restrained and discouraged by all lawful means.

One who saw Miss Julia Ward Howe in New York says: "She has the grandest mind and can write the most incomprehensible things of any woman in the land. She is modest in demeanor but she knows that she is wise and she looks as though her eyes had seen the glory of the coming of the Lord but as though it was a long time ago and she had got rather used to it. She has the New England knack of putting together half a dozen words so that they seem like axioms, are only deep and full of moment and portent.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JANUARY 26 1870

Cheap Glory gained through petty Dishonesty

It seems that Mr Flanders whilom Governor of Washington Territory has been airing his troubles in the newspapers at Washington. We do not know any good reason why he should not do so, if he thinks the world in any danger of coming to a dead halt in consequence of his official demise But Mr Flanders has no right to die leaving an autobiography which by direction or implication, is a lie People, upon so solemn an occasion as that of going out of the world physical or political should, at least, have a decent regard for truth Mr Flanders informs the newspapers and the rest of mankind that he was removed in consequence of having vetoed one hundred and four bills passed by the legislature which bills were old laws simply re-enacted for the purpose of having the United States pay for a big job of printing, that he interposed his veto to save the United States from being the victim of a swindle, etc, and that for his honest (?) pains he is rewarded with removal This card of the defunct vetoist seems to have tickled the fancy of some of the newspapers and they undertake to champion his cause with a gusto which appears very ludicrous to those who know all the facts Mr Flanders knows very well, and so does everybody else in this country, that his vetoing performances cut no figure in his removal; that the reason for his removal was his notorious defection from the Republican party of Washington Territory and his conspiracy with certain other bolting soreheads, to divide and destroy the party organization. Mr. Flanders, however, seems to have said nothing of this, in his card, if we may judge by the newspaper comments.

Neither did Mr Flanders mention the material fact that the bills presented and which he vetoed at such a saving to the United States (!) and sacrifice of himself (!) were the bills reported by the board of Code Commissioners, appointed by a former legislature to revise and codify the laws of the Territory. It is true that a great number of them were copies of laws already in force—laws which the commissioners deemed wise and wholesome and which they did not desire to leave out of the revised code. This is the reason why old laws were re-enacted, just as such things are done in all States, when the laws are being revised and codified Mr. Flanders chose not to mention these facts, but rather to gain a little cheap glory in the newspapers, by representing himself as a sacrifice to his [illegible] standing between a venal and thieving legislature and the United States treasury. His card will not help his reputation much at home. It will be properly considered a dishonest statement of the case, untrue, because it gives not the real cause of his removal, and because it does not state the whole case in regard to the vetoes, and a base attempt to place the President and the Republican party in a false position, by a total misrepresentation of the whole case Take it all in all and it is a maneuver precisely worthy of a man who privately conspired to defeat a Republican candidate while to keep his record good (!) quietly voted for him. Flanders will need to explain his card when he gets back among people who know the dishonesty of it.

"Oregon the Poor Man's Country."

It is pleasant to find occasionally an exception to the overweening pride and selfishness of the San Francisco press, and an acknowledgment that there may be possibly some good thing not included within the boundaries of California We have found such an exception in the Figaro of the 19th inst, in an article under the above quoted head. It says

> Since the scarcity of work and high rents must unavoidably compel thousands to leave the city, the serious question arises, Where are they to go? The Bulletin advises them to "go to the country," but to what quarter? Where can they find lands for settlement? What portion of the productive domain is not already occupied and improved, or in possession of the grabbers, who demand more than the poor settler can afford to pay? Where can he find rest and establish for himself a home?
>
> We answer, to Oregon, to Washington Territory, where there are vast areas of unoccupied lands as fertile as the richest valleys of California and which are still available to the settler at Government prices. The tourist who ascends Mount Hood can overlook a territory of bewildering magnitude, of prodigious fertility, capable of sustaining ten millions of people, and still comparatively uninhabited We will refer only to the one valley of the Willamette, 200 miles long, 50 miles wide, seven-eighths of the whole expanse susceptible of cultivation and not more than one-fifth has ever been disturbed by the plow This great valley, as fertile as the lands bordering the Nile is inhabited by some 30,000 people, it would [illegible] a million And this is only one of the great agricultural regions that invite the settler to the North and which in the lifetime of some now living, will comprise one of the richest agricultural communities in the Union
> It is a short sighted policy that would over crowd our own State with landless inhabitants, who must exist merely as tenants at will of great land owners, while there is a vast empire of latent wealth inviting them to a sister State, whose prosperity is inseparable from our own We, of California, know too little of Oregon. We have called it "The Poor Man's Country," yet it is not the country of poor men The settlers in those broad and teeming vallies are rich in productive lands, rich in swarming flocks, rich in content ment and happiness, and rich in the promise of a glorious future

The Figaro is right about our capacities for settlement and development, and exceptionally magnanimous in the justice it does our State and people For which Figaro has our thanks

Virginia Admitted

The Senate seems to have surrounded Sumner and forced him to surrender on the question of admitting Virginia or to have passed the Virginia bill in spite of his protest. We cannot tell and it does not matter whether he opposed the admission to the bitter end what is more material is that the Senate passed the bill and the House agreed to the Senate amendments Virginia is now represented in the Senate and House though she got in by a strict party vote in the House, as the telegraph informs us It is well But what means that "strict party vote?" After all the professions of the Democracy of impatience at the delay in the Virginia case did they really all vote to still keep her out? We shall never have done with surprises at the inconsistencies and contradictions of the Democracy We heartily rejoice, however that neither the cold blooded Sumner in the Senate, nor the united Democracy in the House was able to defeat the consummation of the reconstruction of Virginia and her restoration to representation All hail to Virginia reconstructed! and now let the other States come in as fast as possible, and have an end of the late unpleasantness

A Wedding in the Alps —The Home Journal has a letter from Neuchatel Switzerland which gives an account of the marriage early in December of Count Arthur de Pourtales-Gorgier, a young French nobleman, and Miss Jennie L. Holladay, daughter of Ben Holladay

Editorial Notes

Among the late reports concerning military changes is one that Gen Sherman has authorized Gen Thomas to report on the feasibility of discontinuing the Military District of Alaska and attaching it to Oregon

On the occasion of the "last spike" celebration at Salt Lake Brigham Young congratulated the people upon the completion of the railroad and said that now "the world of mankind is invited to come up to Zion" whereupon a profane correspondent suggests that Brigham or some other man should build for Zion a decent hotel

The dispatches indicate that Congress really is in earnest about doing something to supply the South and West with a greater proportion of circulating medium There is an almost universal demand from those sections for an increase of the money volume—a demand which Congress cannot with impunity disregard The Pacific coast is rapidly drifting into such condition as that it must also appeal for similar relief The action of Congress this winter may enable us to avert the financial and commercial distress to which the Southern and Western States are now subject

Some of the Democratic papers of this State are discussing the propriety of nominating at their State convention, a candidate for U S Senator, following therein the example of the times when Jo Lane and Delazon Smith were the Democratic party We hope they will try it on We fancy there would be some rich fun for outsiders—watching the antics of the seventy five or eighty aspirants who each propose to go before the Legislature with [illegible] to haggle and trade upon Wouldn't such a proposition stir up the animals? But gentlemen don't please, elect a Senator till you have secured the Legislature.

The Alta mentions a singular prevalence within the last few weeks of a disease which the physicians call Bright's disease of the kidneys It says this used to be a very rare disease We have not the figures before us but we do not step beyond the bounds when we say that more deaths have been reported from this disease during the last four or five weeks than during the whole period that mortality statistics have been kept Of course there is nothing epidemic about it, but its frequent occurrence would indicate the too frequent use of some deleterious drink The subject, we think, is one worthy of consideration in medical circles if any suggestion of philanthropy can secure a hearing there

Seward in Mexico

[From City of Mexico (Dec 11) Cor Bulletin]

THE GREAT BALL IN HONOR OF MR. SEWARD

I wrote you briefly in my last about the great ball in honor of Mr Seward, The old est inhabitant (they have him here as well as elsewhere) says he never saw the like I am prepared to say that the like was never seen on the Pacific coast and very seldom elsewhere The National Theater is an immense stone structure, with an immense colonade and court in front, its capacious stage and parquet furnishing dancing room one hundred by three hundred feet The decorations exteriorly and interiorly, were not only lavish but beautiful. The whole street, for the block in which the theater is situated, was hung in festoons of colored lanterns The facade of the building was brilliantly illuminated with variegated lights The spacious court, or patio as it is called here, was ornamented with flags, evergreens, and mimic gardens filled with shrubs, flowers and fountains that mingled their music with that of the noisy dance, which floated from the interior hall

At 11 o'clock, Mr Seward accompanied by his son Fredrick and wife, made their appearance They occupied a box adjoining that of the President and his family and were the "observed of all observers," until the fascinations of the dance enthralled all whose physical condition allowed an indulgence in its exciting whirl 4 000 guests were present and at least 1,000 occupied the dancing floor at a time To describe the blaze of beauty and diamonds that flashed upon and bewildered the senses is beyond my power, suffice it to say that it was all that could be desired and more too The illustrious guest appeared fresh and joyous at 3 o clock in the morning The President and family retired at 5, and the "ball broke" at 7 o clock

The expense of this entertainment cannot be less than $20,000, and is another evidence of the lavish hospitality of this Government towards Mr Seward

OTHER OVATIONS TO MR SEWARD

Since my last, Mr Seward has received many public attentions At the Iturbide Theater a representation of Uncle Tom's Cabin was given in his honor The announcement on the bills stated that La Cabana de Tom would be performed in honor of the distinguished American statesman Hon William E Seward Such is fame! Become historical, and have your name spelled wrong in the papers

A BRILLIANT PIC NIC

On Monday last Mr Seward attended a pic-nic under the management of Maj Hoyt of San Francisco and the Californians in Mexico This was a new and novel feature here such pastimes not being indulged in on account of the danger from robbers to pleasure parties outside the gates of the city The excursion was in boats down a historic canal along the dike on which Cortes made his second entry to the city, past the place where the unfortunate but heroic Guatemozin was captured, to the famous lake Chalco the scene of so many daring exploits during the conquest The party was a gay and festive one The families of the President Cabinet, United States Minister, and most of the prominent resident Americans in addition to Mr Seward s party participated The boats proceeded about twelve miles from the city to a beautiful and historic spot where beneath the shade of gigantic willows, the table was spread with a collation served in elegant style with services of china silver and cut glass After the merits of the dinner were discussed the band furnished exquisite music, to which the joyous party kept tune with flying feet On returning to the city at night fall the songs and Yankee cheers gave token to the natives that somebody was having a good time Of course an escort of mounted cavalry accompanied the party along the canal to prevent the kidnappers from depredating The capture of Mr Seward and the family of the President would be a big haul for the robbers who would certainly obtain if successful, a large sum of money for their ransom

SPECULATIONS ABOUT MR SEWARD'S [illegible]

The period of Mr Seward s departure is not definitely fixed It is amusing to read the speculations of the Mexican Press in regard to his visit As they well know that persons seldom come to Mexico except on business, they presume that Mr Seward has some ax to grind Some say that he is the owner of several millions of dollars in Mexican bonds which he desires to get secured or paid Others, that he is making a secret treaty with the Government for the cession of a portion of Mexico to the United States and others still that he is purchasing up large tracts of land for speculation Notwithstanding Mr Seward s oft repeated statement that his business is only for pleasure and general information the opposition press affect not to believe him Evidently they consider the white man mighty uncertain

DON DIEGO

Ruling families are not common in the United States The most remarkable case is probably that of the Adamses three generations of whom have held very high positions in the National Government, with possibilities in favor of the fourth generation Two brothers of the late Senator Fessenden have served in the lower House of Congress and the Washburn brothers of Maine Illinois Wisconsin and California are perhaps the next best examples unless the Bayards of Delaware be preferred

OREGON

The Eugene [illegible] says There were 181 deeds and 101 mortgages recorded in the Clerk s office of Lane county during the year 1869 The County Clerk issued forty seven marriage licenses during 1869, and there were twenty divorces granted during that year. The Eugene jail is to be repaired at a cost of $325

The citizens of our town, says the Eugene Guard have realized the fact, that unless something is done to induce Holliday to adopt a line for his railroad through this place the Burrage line running by Springfield will be selected Quite an amount of funds have been raised to carry on a survey under the superintendency of Jesse Applegate

The Eugene Journal says The following officers were elected at the meeting of the American Bible Society held last Monday evening A A Smith President A McCornack Vice President S B Eakin Jr Secretary H H [illegible] Treasurer Executive Committee—J H D Henderson Rev P M Starr Rev A Stump or A McCornack S B Eakin Sr H [illegible] and S B Eakin Jr

From the Salem Press Mr E D Towl came near being hit the other night, by a bullet intended for some cats The Capital Lumbering Company in the year 1869 sold 1 400 654 feet of lumber and 115 800 laths They [illegible] feet above low water mark The amount of flour manufactured at the Salem Mills in 1869 was the other day stated at 3 300 bbls The figures should have been 33 000

Salem items from the Statesman The steamers are going down the river loaded to the guards with flour We saw on Saturday evening at Jarvis chair factory, a block of wood freshly cut from the tree through which and firmly bedded in its growth was a large buck horn The section of wood was sawed from a tree recently felled at the Odd Fellows Cemetery and is about twenty inches in length; it is a crotch or fork which has long since grown up solid and right through this crotch and through the center of the tree is the horn [illegible] in a good state of preservation

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COAST NEWS

FROM LOWER CALIFORNIA TERRIFIC WIND STORM NO RAIN

[From the San Diego Union Jan 13]

Mr W C [illegible] writing to the Union from Santa [illegible] Lower California January 3d gives the following account of a terrific wind storm which recently visited that section On the last day and night of the old year one of the most severe wind storms swept over this country that has ever occurred since my acquaintance with it My house was unroofed, and the house of my neighbor Don Manuel Machada was not only unroofed but one of the side walls (adobe) was blown down

During the month of December last not a drop of rain fell in this part of the country

STILL MORE EXPRESSIONS OF REPUBLICAN OPINION IN FAVOR OF REDUCTION.

[From the Boston Advertiser]

In his lecture Wednesday evening, Mr Boutwell declined to discuss any of the prominent business questions which now interest the country It was evidently not his purpose to invite discussion nor to provoke criticism on any of the points touching the future financial policy of the Government His casual allusion to the national debt and to the necessity of enduring excessive taxation in order that the debt may soon be discharged, was almost the only point where an issue might be made with him. Undesirable as the debt is, and anxious as all right-minded people are to have it removed, there are abundant illustrations of the fact that it is not in itself incompatible with great national prosperity Nor do we believe that in our case the immediate extinction of the debt is necessary to enable the nation to advance its ideas, to extend its policy and diffuse its power among the nations of the earth It is vastly more necessary to build up our waste places, to repair crippled industries and put the people in a way to contribute to the necessities of the Government without feeling it as a sacrifice To attempt to pay off in a few years a debt incurred as this was for the safety and happiness of many generations while all great business interests are depressed and taxes are eating into the substance of every kind of labor is a delusive economy which must be followed by a bitter awakening by and by

[From the Ohio State Journal]

You may start from Capitol Square, travel five miles in any direction, then halt. Stop the first man who approaches and enter into conversation on any topic and in ten minutes time, without an effort to lead or control on your part, the conversation will drift into an inquiry how taxes are to be reduced and an assertion that such reduction was necessary

It was in this conviction that we took ground last October in favor of a reduction of taxation A financial writer, for whom we have the highest respect remonstrated with us privately for this course We must first fund our bonds said he The people will not rest quietly under the deprivation [illegible] the debt The people are not grumbling so much under taxation The national taxes fall chiefly upon the rich and prosperous [illegible] were we that the people did desire a reduction even at the expense of the gratifying [illegible] that we agreed with our friend if the leading journals of the country did not within sixty days come out in favor of reduction we would drop the subject for the present

Now, we call attention to the following facts Within a few weeks of that time, without concert of action or [illegible] as the mouthpeace of public sentiment, we had among our own exchanges articles in favor of the reduction of taxation from the New York Times the New York Commercial Advertiser the New York Evening Post and [illegible] the Boston Traveller the Springfield (Mass) Republican the Albany Evening Journal the Wheeling Intelligencer and many other Ohio papers the Chicago Republican the Chicago Tribune (indirectly) the Missouri Democrat and a host of other papers from all parts of the country

In view of the fact that these representative Republican journals and others with an enthusiasm only have vigorously urged a reduction we do not but feel justified in saying that the bulk of the people are desirous that the reduction may commence presently without any longer delay than may be necessary for the adjustment of the machinery

[From the Indianapolis Journal]

The people who patriotically carried forward and sustained the war would gladly bear the burden imposed to the utmost farthing but the logic of events has been so stern that they are compelled to ask for a relief from the strain put upon them * * * Mr Wells estimates the surplus for the next year under the present laws at $124 000 000 The credit of the country does not demand so large an amount and [illegible] should arrange to give back to the people a reasonable proportion say half of this surplus [illegible] to the direct influence of lessening so much the actual taxation the reflex influence in adding the active capital of the country stimulating trade and relieving industry would enhance [illegible] material ability in the judgment of the world than the possession of the present [illegible] with continued prostration and threatened paralysis and unintermitted complaints

[From the Leavenworth (Kansas) Times]

The Boston Advertiser Albany Journal Erie Dispatch Chicago Times New York Times and other influential Republican journals advocate an immediate and large reduction of taxation We entirely agree with that policy

Representative Ingersoll of Illinois has not bought a house in Washington costing $3 100 as was reported

The Crown Prince of Prussia resides in Berlin and occupies the same apartments in which the Great once resided when heir apparent to the throne He lives in a manner at [illegible] simple and refined [illegible] the Queen of England presides over his establishment with dignity and grace Their summer palace at Potsdam has a homelike air of comfort about it The bed chambers are neat and tidy with chintz curtains instead of heavy silks and damasks The king's sleeping apartment is furnished with rigid simplicity with a small cot and a few chairs

Six members of the Society of Friends in Park county arriving at Rockville a few minutes too late to take the train walked the whole distance twenty five miles to attend the State Christian Convention at Terre Haute

What the Hon. W T Balloo says about the King of Pain

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 7 1869

Dr J J McBride—Having suffered with sciatic rheumatism some months I was induced to use your King of Pain I take pleasure in recommending it to those afflicted with rheumatism I know of several cases of neuralgia that have been cured by using it.

W T BALLOO of Elko, Nevada

Card from Harbor Master,

SAN FRANCISCO Dec. 2, 1869

To Dr McBride—This is to certify that I have been troubled with neuralgia in my right arm and hand for the past three months and although I have had medical advice and tried a number of remedies, none has relieved me until I tried Dr McBride's "King of Pain," which has done me more good than all the other remedies I have tried

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 16 1869

DR MCBRIDE—My Dear Sir For the last six or seven years I have been afflicted with rheumatic pains from my knees down embracing all the joints of ankle and toes These pains have come upon me periodically every year about [illegible] My knees and ankles and [illegible] and finger joints would swell and leave me in the most agonizing pain known only to those who have suffered from this dread malady The pains would continue for a period of from three to four months every year and they have [illegible] I have been advised to apply to [illegible] the best doctors of San Francisco and I [illegible] failed [illegible] but it would [illegible] return in a few days with increased severity

A [illegible] weeks ago while my pains were upon me I saw [illegible] and heard what you said about your "King of Pain. I confess that I had but little faith [illegible] indeed, I may say that I did not believe your statements [illegible] though I [illegible] and tried it [illegible] my knee, which was fearfully swollen [illegible] I suffered [illegible] The second night I [illegible] again and now dear Doctor you can judge of my surprise [illegible] the swelling [illegible] and I was [illegible] with delight [illegible] my friends, who had been [illegible] rheumatism [illegible] weeks and I have not felt the least symptom of return I believe I am cured, and I feel so grateful to you that I offer you this statement verified by my oath to be used by you in whatever way you may think proper and I feel it a duty to let others similarly afflicted know where they can find relief

I am yours very truly RAPHAEL LOOKAYER

CITY.

A Diff — The reporter of a city contemporary thinks the article in regard to diseased meat as published in this paper "likely to impeach the products of a principal article of export Be lieving that honesty in a local journalist is the best policy in the long run and that better ends will be subserved by the promulgation of plain truth than by glossing stubborn facts with smooth words, or passing in silence over faults and fa ... even though they are found in our midst and ... our own people every right thinking ... can see at once that every pound of inferior or diseased article of Oregon produce put in the market will tend to injure the reputation which she has had such difficulty in attaining A few speculators may realize handsome profits for a time by putting spurious or inferior commodities before the public for genuine ones but it is always at the expense of honest dealers The com ... from Dayton was by no means a ... but an earnest inquiry after truth and based upon what appeared to us to be sufficient grounds. The investigation by a scientific man and the publication of his observations in regard to the matter will set at rest the rumors which had gained some extent and credence and evinces a determination to maintain that high character for superiority in the quality of Oregon produce and business honesty in commercial matters to which as a people, we are justly entitled If our article depreciates the marketable value of a single pound of sound pork, we are sorry ... that we published the article, but that the fact exists better that a temporary depreciation be suffered than a loss of a good reputation abroad—better that facts should be made known in time than that a culmination of evil results should follow ... coming too late for remedy

Arrival of Mr. Bates —The effort of Mr Bates to furnish the citizens of Portland with such amusement in the dramatic lines as the growth of our city and the intelligence of our people de mand, has certainly been a commendable one and his arrival by the Montana, with a superior troupe of actors, convinces us that he does not intend to relax these efforts until they are crowned with success, as we trust they will be in this in stance. That our readers may have an idea of the high estimation in which the troupe about to open in Portland are held in California, we copy the following, from a San Francisco exchange, on the occasion of their departure from that city "Mr F M Bates and company leave for Portland to-morrow (Thursday), at 4 P M Mr Vinson, late stage manager at Maguire's Opera House; Mr. Nobles, late juvenile actor also at Maguire's; Mr Theodore Jackson, of the San Francisco Minstrels. Miss Jennie Mandeville Mrs R. H. Cox and others, make up the talent to be added to that already at Portland Mr and Mrs. Joe Murphy go with the party to fill a 'star' engagement of three weeks to be succeeded by the Gregories If the Portlandites don't rally to Bates' support after all his efforts to please them they should be amusementless for ever after " We note also, among those coming, Messrs E T Melville, C. Thornton, H. Graves, E Graham and E. Williams. This fine array of talent cannot fail to please, and as they begin the season to night, we have no doubt the people will manifest their appreciation of the untiring efforts on the part of the management, by giving them a crowded house and a hearty welcome. The opening piece will be, "Born to Good Luck," in which Mr Joe Murphy will take the leading part

Did Not Go.—The steamer did not attempt the trip to the Cascades yesterday, as was announced We did not learn the exact reason, but presume it was on account of a dispatch received the day be fore stating that the mail had not then left the Dalles. There is some probability that the boat from above is now able to reach Cascades and we may expect that in a few days the regular trips will be resumed. It will be a source of great sat isfaction to the people of Portland when this is the case, as the total cutting off of the mail facili ties in that direction proves a serious inconveni ence to them It is presumed that a mail started from the Dalles yesterday morning, either by the steamer Oneonta or overland. If so it may reach here this evening

Cheap Riding —We were informed yesterday that some of the strangers in the city manage to ride fine horses without running up that serious ... of expense, a livery stable bill Mr Stranger goes into a livery stable and pretends to be anxious to purchase a good horse. Of course the stable man gives him a horse to try, and he mounts the animal, and after "trying" him about town and out to the "White House" for an hour or two, brings him back and says he won't suit. By trying this thing at each stable of which there are some ten or a dozen in the city, a man can afford to take a ride every day for a week or two, on very reasonable, if not honorable terms

The Mary Bell.—This new candidate for public patronage in the steamboat line has just returned from her first trip to Astoria, and the success attained was quite satisfactory She ran down the Columbia during the severe storm of Sunday, and notwithstanding the almost hurri cane, she "walked the waters like a thing of life" and made excellent time She will hereafter run regularly on the Portland and Astoria route, run ning on alternate days with the other Astoria boat. Her landing in this city will be at the American Exchange wharf She will leave Port land on each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 6 A M

Snagged —The Okanagan, on her way down the Columbia river on Friday last having the Elk Yankee in tow, reached Tongue Point, when night overtook her The darkness prevented her pilot from seeing his way clearly, and he was driven against the south shore when he supposed he was near the channel on the north side In working his way toward the opposite shore the boat struck a snag which made quite a hole in her bottom She then ran on a sand spit and lay until the rising of the tide. In the meantime the damage to her hull was repaired and she got off and proceeded on her way Her tow suffered no injury.

Wool —A large lot of wool was brought up on the Montana from California for the Woolen Mills at Oregon City Whether this is some that has heretofore been shipped to San Francisco from this place, we are unable to say, but at any rate to bring wool to a country having no more or greater facilities for manufacturing than Oregon pos sesses, and with such ample opportunities for producing the raw material, is, to us, a striking exemplification of the old "saw" of carrying "coals to Newcastle" Oregon, instead of im porting this article ought to make it one of her leading exports

Stormy —It is reported by passengers from down the Columbia, that the severest wind and rain storms, known for months, if not for years, have prevailed on that river during the past week Especially on last Sunday, the gale almost amounted to a hurricane. It will be fortunate if the "big blow" has not carried misfortune to some of the sailing crafts on their way to this port, but as yet no accident is reported

U. S Circuit Court —In this court yesterday, Hon. M P Deady Judge, the proceedings were as follows

S. G Elliot vs Ben Holladay et al Demurrer to the plea in abatement that the defendant is a citizen of New York and not of Oregon was overruled, and plaintiff had until to morrow to reply, on terms of $10 costs to defendant

Court adjourned till Tuesday next

High Water —The small streams up the val ley are reported to be at a very high stage and the rapid rise taking place in the river at this point confirms the report A few inches more and some of the city wharves will be submerged The water only lacked two feet of being over the bank on the east side of the river yesterday and may overflow the bottom and railroad track yet

Valentines —Those in Oregon who wish a supply of these missives for the approaching Val entine's Day cannot do better than to send their orders to Wm A Frey 694 Montgomery street San Francisco as he advertises articles in tha line that beat anything ever before introduced on this coast. They are put up in lots to suit pur chasers

Brought Up —The body of Hiram Smith Esq , of this place who died in San Francisco on the 17th inst was brought up on the steamer to be interred here The funeral rites will take place at the Presbyterian church to day at 11 o'clock A M Friends of the family are invited to attend

U S District Court.—In the United States District Court yesterday the case of J ... Catlin assignee, vs John R Foster in an action to re cover money, was tried and submitted Fried ... for plaintiff ... for defendant

The Fifteenth Amendment in the California Legislature

[From Sacramento (Jan 19) ... Bulletin]

The debate on the Fifteenth Amendment in the Assembly to day resulted for the time being in a complete discomfiture of the stay at home States Rights men who breathe fire and bloodshed and threaten civil war for the maintenance of States Rights or resort to bradawl and plug-ugly tac tics in case three fourths of the States adopt the Fifteenth Amendment. Everywhere Democrats are heard expressing the opinion that Gov Haight has taken positions in his message that the party dare not sustain and do not believe in The men of Southern birth who showed their faith in the doctrine of States Rights by entering the armies of the rebels and fighting for it frankly admit that the war exploded that doctrine completely Some of them say this is the best Government on the face of the earth since it forgives their sin of rebellion and allows them peacefully to return to the prosecution of their business and protects their rights as fully as those of its citizens who were the most loyal and fought against them No other country would have done this They have felt its mercy and justice as well as its power and acknowledge both They accept the result of the war and acknowledge that it decided all the questions which gave rise to it They denounce the men who fled the country or quietly stayed at home instead of fighting when the issue was made up, and now talk of reinau gurating all the horrors of civil war, in which they would, in all probability be again equally reluctant to take any part or risk They say there is no doubt of the power of three-fourths of the States to amend the National Constitution in any manner whatever and that any amend ment thus adopted would be a finality Such was the character of the speech delivered to day in the Assembly by Mr Ryan of San Francisco and that of Mr Henly of Sonoma was in laughable contrast with it It produced a great effect and discomfited the secesh ring of his party immense ly A joint caucus of the Democratic members of both Houses is called for Thursday evening of this week after the conclusion of the debate on this subject in the Senate to morrow and it is not at all unlikely that some discussion will be had as to what shall be done with this Fifteenth Amendment debate which seems an elephant that is likely to injure or destroy its keepers if all we'd to go on Mr Ryan had better be sent off on some traveling committee if possible, and the rejection of the Amendment put through on the previous question without more talk, or the secesh orators will frighten the voters of this State by the threat of civil war that the people will be afraid to trust the party any longer For prevent further damage for the present the de bate in the Senate was p ... stponed one week

There are two daily newspaper offices in Boston in which girls are employed as compositors—the Traveller and the Transcript evening papers They were first employed at the time of the famous printers' strike in November 1864 and most of them are still in those offices receiving men's wages and working full hours They average eighteen dollars a week and perform their work equally as correct and prompt as men. Of course these female compositors conform to all the rules of a well regulated composition room " and feel themselves on a level with the male help

B. L. Stone has just received per steamer Montana the finest lot of Jewelry ever brought to this city consisting of an elegant assortment of Solid Gold and Silver Chains, a lot of new and rare setts of the most exquisite taste, beautiful gold Bracelets and Finger Rings—all of the latest styles Also a fine lot of Clocks and Gold and Silver Watches Go and see him Mr Stone will allow no one in the city to undersell him

There is nothing more pleasing to Son and Parent than a neat fitting and good suit of clothing The place such are to be found is at Kohn & Fishel's No 91 Front street Their suits are all custom made Their stock of clothing is the largest in the city and will be sold lower than ever the next two months to make room for their extensive Spring stock soon to arrive

Nowhere can a few hundred dollars be so well invested as in the Puget Sound Homestead Association It will insure each shareholder an interest in the great city to be built at the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Over One Hundred Shares are already taken Persons desiring to become Stockholders will do well to call soon and enroll their names

The Vital Statistics of California

Show that periodical fevers and acute and chronic disor ders of the stomach and bowels are among the most prominent and fatal diseases in the State Disobedience to the laws of health as regards diet the use of pernicious stimulants; and the wear and tear of business excitement and of "fast life" generally have much to do with the prevalence of these maladies in our cities while in the interior and especially in the gold yielding districts they are chiefly due to malaria unwholesome water and exposure and privation incident to life in new settlements and mining camps. Now it is a fact that it is as possible to protect the human system against these maladies as to guard life and property against the incursions of assas sins and thieves Strengthen the vital organization with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS and it becomes as capable of resisting the active principle of epidemic or endemic disease as a fire-proof safe is of resisting the action of combustion This is the experience of thous ands who have remained unscathed by malarious disor ders in the sickliest seasons while their neighbors, who neglected to fortify and regulate their systems with this unequalled medicinal stimulant have fallen thick and fast around them Weakness invites disease Vigor repels it Help nature to fight the good fight with in fection whether it be in the air the water or the soil with this matchless preparation a compound of the rarest vegetable extracts with the purest of all diffusive stimulants

Summer Scenes from the Cascade Mountains.

From "A Picture Poem"—Unpublished.

BY C. H. MILLER

Parting the purple curtains of the glade
With flashing helmets that defy the clouds,
And do make fierce fellowship with the stars,
Mount Hood! fair Saint Helens! eternal
As the sun, from this my mossy mountain throne
With bowed and uncovered head, I greet ye.

Snowy breasts of Nature's swelling bosom—
Nature full and bounteous—O let me draw
Inspiration holy from ye, as a child
Draws milk from a loving mother's breast,
And be your child, your yearning wayward child,
And sitting here as on a parent's knee
Gaze my fill into the face of Nature.

The green Willamette flashes back afar,
And down his path of palms goes even on
An endless caravan to some fair Mecca
On either side he spreads his yellow tales
With strips of foamy streams and fringe of green,
As a merchant of the storied East unfolds
His gorgeous wealth of green and yellow silks.

Far, far down in yon narrow spruce-lined canyon
Is the storm-hid home of ghostly darkness
I see him now, as down and down I peer,
Crouch down, and shrink, and creep still up the gorge,
Like some great beast that would conceal its form
In nervous fear from the gaze of man.

'Tis harvest time, and valiant Nature bears
Upon earth's broad and unfailing bosom
A yellow shield of bright and gleaming gold,
Wrought out by patient husbandmen to guard
And to protect his race against the hosts of famine.

A flushed and weary messenger sweat,
Is standing at the half-closed door of day,
As he would say, good-night; and now his bright
Red cap he tips to me and turns his face.
Were it an unholy thing to say an angel
Stood beside the door with uplifted seal?
For behold the door now sealed with blood-red seal
That burns and spreads o'er half the mighty West.
Never, never more shall the dead day rise
Therefrom, but must be born and come anew.

The tawny, solemn night, child of the East,
Trails her mournful robes on the distant woods.
And comes this way, with firm and stately step,
Afront, and very high, she wears her shining
Silver breast-plate, and on her [illegible] brow
The radiant Venus burns like flashing wit.
Behold! in her gorgeous flow of hair she wears
A million glittering, jeweled gems,
Spilling their molten gold on the dewy grass.
Throned on the boundless plain, and gazing
Calmly down on the red-sealed tomb of day,
Etching her form against the Rocky Mountains.
She rules with silent power a peaceful world.

'Tis midnight now. The bent and broken moon,
Battered, black, as from a thousand battles,
Hangs silent on the purple walls of heaven.
The angel warrior, guard of the gates eternal,
Girt in battle harness sleeps upon the field;
But when to-morrow comes, when wicked men
That fret the patient earth are all astir,
He will resume his shield and facing earthward,
Guard the gates of heaven from the sins of earth.

A GRAND COMMERCIAL EDIFICE.

THE MOST COMMODIOUS, DURABLE, MASSIVE AND IMPOSING COMMERCIAL BUILDING OF THE METROPOLIS—A GRAND TRIUMPH OF RENAISSANCE SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE—THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY'S BUILDING—MODERN COMMERCIAL CONVENIENCES.

[From the New York Sun, Nov. 4.]

Towering grandly and most conspicuously above all surrounding edifices, and crowned by a double-faced Mansard roof, and more lofty pavilions, is the magnificent, new, and wonderfully attractive Concord white granite structure located at the corner of Broadway and Cedar street. Surrounded as is this wonder of architecture and mechanical skill by many of our most stately and lofty brick, brown-stone, granite, and marble commercial palaces, yet, towering far above them all, the attention of the passer by is drawn irresistibly aside from all these other Broadway wonders to contemplate this, the glory of them all. As we pause on the opposite pavement to view this most majestic and magnificent of all the commercial buildings of our own or of all continents, we are delighted with the symmetrical outlines of the Renaissance school of architecture from which the design of this new building wonder has been drawn.

As we approach the central business location of the city, upon which this vast edifice has been erected, our attention is first attracted by its extraordinary massiveness and solidity. As our gaze reaches upward to its seventh story, we are surprised and delighted with the beautiful outlines of the structure and the harmonious combinations of elaborately chiselled granite, bastions, columns, arches and facings. Approaching it from up-town, we have the fullest view of its Mansard roof, two stories in height, and the two majestic pavilions which crown it. As we inspect its exterior more closely, we are struck with the peculiar adaptability for commercial buildings of this white granite, which we ascertain is from a new quarry recently opened near Concord, New Hampshire. For such a classical rendering of the Renaissance school as the architects have applied to this structure, it affords a most delightful combination of light and shade, and presents an aspect of warmth and transparency not to be found in brownstone, red sandstone, Illinois buff, or glaring white marble. The deep Mansard roof is most happily relieved by boldly projected cornices, stone dormer windows, and a high, ornamental, galvanized cast-iron railing. The great windows, too, attract our attention, and we hastily and properly decide that they are larger than any other windows in any building on our continent.

A BEAUTIFUL DESIGN.

From our hasty view of the exterior of this architectural wonder of the year, we give our praise to a design of such rare classical beauty, and acknowledge that the whole country, or any European city either, does not furnish a rival. The peculiar preference of the architects for the classical design of the Renaissance school over the Venetian is certainly one of the happiest. By its selection, the whole exterior appearance of the building is relieved of the bizarre and ludicrous effect to be observed in so many of our so-called Renaissance buildings.

DIMENSIONS AND MATERIALS.

This great building, fronting five full numbers, 116, 118, 120, 122 and 124, on Broadway, and 84, 86, and 88 Cedar street, is constructed of white granite, iron and brick; in all, about 6,000 tons of these materials have been used. A million and a half bricks have been employed in its inside walls and floors. It is covered by 15,000 superficial feet of slate roofing. The height of the building from the pavement to the roof is 145 feet, and to the massive gilt eagle which crowns the pavilion facing on Broadway is 200 feet.

THE SOCIETY'S INSIGNIA.

Over the projected and massive portico of the Broadway entrance will be placed a exquisitely wrought group of statuary, the emblem of the Society. It is from a model in plaster, by Ward, now being cut in the finest Italian marble. It represents the guardian angel of life assurance holding a shield in the left arm over the widow and orphan, while it holds a spear in the right. Its extreme height is 11 feet. Of all the emblematical marble groupings in this country this is certainly one of the most appropriate and attractive.

THE PROPRIETOR OF THE BUILDING

is the Equitable Life Assurance Society, which at present occupies the second and third floors of Nos. 92 and 94 Broadway, where it has been located since its organization in 1859. The officers at present consist of the Hon. Wm. C. Alexander, President; Henry B. Hyde, Vice President; James W. Alexander, Secretary; Geo. W. Phillips, Actuary; Edward W. Lambert, M. D., and Alfred Lambert, M. D., Examining Physicians; Willard Parker, M. D., Consulting Physician; Henry Day, Attorney; and Henry M. Alexander, Counsel.

HISTORY OF THE BUILDING.

Before entering the grand edifice, at present the pride of all the commercial buildings on our continent we called at the Society's offices, for we naturally queried for whom and for what purpose was this commodious and magnificent building constructed. We learned the following from the presiding officers and heads of the departments: The building will cost when finised upward of $1,500,000. It was projected in 1864, for at that time the corporation found that its rapidly increasing business demanded more extensive office accommodations. They determined to secure an eligible site, and construct a model building upon it. One of the most desirable objects to be obtained was perfect security from fire. Their forty thousand or more valuable documents were in constant danger from fire, and not longer ago than last winter they barely escaped conflagration. The wisdom displayed by the Society in thus desiring to secure their papers forever from destruction by fire is most praiseworthy. The Board of Directors appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. Henry A. Hulbert, Wm. G. Lambert, and Henry G. Marquand, and authorised them to secure an appropriate building site. On the 19th of December, 1865, the committee purchased lots 116, 118, and 120 Broadway, and 85 Cedar street, from the United States Telegraph Company. The following year they purchased lots 84 and 86 Cedar street. This gave them an L shaped lot. In 1867, after much vexatious negotiation, they secured lots 122 and 124 Broadway, at a cost of $300,000. This gave the Company 7,967 superficial feet, purchased at a cost of $59 62 per square foot, which, all things considered, was a most reasonable price. $300 per superficial foot has been offered and refused for the ground corner Wall and Broad streets. The Park Bank site, 6,020 feet, though inside lots, cost $53 15 per foot. In estimating building sites 25 to 30 per cent less value is given inside lots. As soon as this last purchase was made, a Building Committee, consisting of Messrs. W. G. Lambert, Henry B. Hyde, John Auchincloss, Wm. F. Bridget, and Henry G. Marquand, was selected. They visited our larger cities to study and investigate plans, buildings and estimates. They examined designs presented by eleven different architects, and accepted that handed in by Messrs. Gilman & Kendall. Geo. B. Post was appointed associate architect, to supervise iron construction.

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

Curiosity prompted us to inquire into the history, standing, and management of this Society, which had found it necessary to erect such a vast structure. Our investigation resulted in our becoming satisfied that the Equitable is one of the best managed corporations in the business world. It was organized in 1859 with a capital of $100,000, which was invested in bonds at a premium of $1,600. This started the Company that much in debt. There is nothing peculiar in their having thus started with so small a capital, but when we find that from such a beginning the assets of the Society have grown to the enormous sum of about twelve million dollars, with an annual income of $6,000,000, and rapidly increasing, we, as well as the millions interested in life insurance, may well inquire into the policy and plans of a Company which has achieved such unparalleled success. Its standing risks are about $135 000,000. Its last year's business reached reached the enormous sum of $51,891,825. Its cash income exceeds the total cash premium of all American companies combined during the year 1861. Its volume of business for a single year is greater than the combined new business of all companies reporting to the New York Insurance Department in 1862 by $10,000,000. We presume that the new business of the Equitable for the past year has never been surpassed by that transacted in any single year by any company in the world.

Its President, the Hon. William C. Alexander, has occupied that place since its organization ten years ago. He was President of the New Jersey State Senate for a number of years, is an LL. D., one of New York's most benevolent citizens, and a son of the late distinguished Archibald Alexander, of Princeton College. The Vice President, Mr. Henry B. Hyde, has also held that second position since the society was organized. These two gentlemen believed that an Insurance Company organized and managed under strict economical principles could afford by means of annual dividends to insure life at rates below those of the majority of other companies. They associated with them such business men only as had achieved great financial success. The income of the Society has been invested with such judicious care that it has never been obliged to foreclose a mortgage. In making its loans the society principally invested in bond and mortgage and gives decided preference to its own policy holders. It thus becomes, as its officers desire, the benefactor of its own patrons, and thus establishes a genuine mutual business connection. They invest all receipts immediately, holding in bank only such an amount of funds as is necessary to meet current expenditures.

WITHIN THE GREAT BUILDING.

Accompanied by the officers of the Equitable, we visited the interior of their new building. We had previously examined the plans, elevations, and other working drawings for the edifice at the office of Mr. Ed. H. Kendall, 92 Broadway. He had shown us the various designs for the interior, embracing decorations in iron, marble, bronze and stucco, which are now being elaborated under his personal supervision. We enter this commercial palace at its central entrance on Broadway. We find an opening vestibule 20 feet square and 33 feet high, with stairs on either side conducting to the principal floor above. Between these two flights are a few broad steps, by which we descend to the spacious basements, which are thus made as convenient and desirable as the upper rooms. The first floor is divided into three grand banking rooms, with burglar and fire proof vaults and toilet conveniences. The grand banking room on the corner of Broadway and Cedar street is 32x90 feet. The other two are 25x50 feet each. Separating them is the grand corridor with tiled marble floor and wainscoting in fine marble, five feet high on all sides. We pass half way down this corridor to the grand stairs, upon either side of which is one of Otis Tufts' incomparable steam passenger elevators. These two elevator passages are 130 feet high, each being 15 feet higher than that built by Mr. Tufts, of Boston, for the Grand Hotel, and the highest in the world, and which was described in the Sun last September. They are built under his exclusive patents, with six twisted iron ropes, and underneath one of them is a freight attachment to accommodate the packing and printing departments of the Equitable. By employing these elevators, the only secure ones constructed, the rooms of the upper stories are as desirable as those of the first floors. Their occupants have more wholesome atmosphere and are free from the noise of the streets. Such a revolution in commercial building conveniences are these elevators working, that we learn from their builder, Mr. Tufts, that he has numerous orders for them from Paris and London. We take a seat in one of these noiseless elevators, or ascend by the grand stairs to the second floor, that set aside and specially arranged for the immense business of the Society. We find here the most complete and imposing business hall in the world. It is spacious in area as the vast building itself. The centre space of this floor, which is 26 feet high, 105 long, and 35 wide, is the clerks' department, in the centre of which is a semicircular skylight, giving an additional seven feet in height. Within this space are 12 ponderous iron columns, 26 feet high, covered an inch deep with variegated marble cement. Extending around this imposing space is a solid marble counter, with a running length of 225 feet. It is surmounted with an ornamental bronze screen, for protecting valuable documents and papers. Within the space enclosed by this counter is room for 150 clerks. Connecting with this grand hall are two tiers of offices for the agents and officers of the company. Each tier has an altitude of one half the grand hall, or 13 feet. Each one of these rooms —40 in all—connects directly with the grand hall, and inside the upper tier is a gallery extending entirely around the floor, paved with marble and protected by an elegant iron railing. From any point of this gallery a view may be had of every desk in this grand hall. Across the entire front of this floor, fronting on Broadway, are five large rooms for the use of the presiding officers and the Board of Directors. They are connected by double sliding doors, so that in case of necessity the whole front may be thrown into one room. The doors are heavy oak and etched glass. The desks and furniture are of the finest American hard woods. From the Vice President's room is a private spiral stairway conducting to the marble gallery around the upper tier of offices.

ABOVE THE SOCIETY'S APARTMENTS.

Leaving the ground floor, we pass upward by the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh stories to the roof. Intervening between the grand hall and roof are fifty spacious offices, which, with the three large banking offices of the first floor and great rooms of the basement, will be rented for business purposes. Toilet conveniences, equal to the most approved, are found attached to them all. It has been estimated that the rent accruing from these rooms and banking offices will pay full interest on all money expended in constructing and furnishing the building, and still leave the Equitable its second floor free of rent—which is another studied, advantageous consideration for the policy holders.

The ventilation of this building has been under the personal supervision of Prof. Leeds. The lathing, all of which is iron, is from a new pattern, from the West Point foundry. There is considerable fine marble work in the building, besides the marble emblematical group over the portico. Rolling iron shutters protect the great windows. Vast vaults extend from the building underground half way across Broadway and Cedar street. Those are for the use of banks, insurance companies, or private parties.

A SPLENDID PANORAMA.

From the seventh story we ascend the to roof, and still higher to one of the pavilions, where we find ourselves at a higher altitude than can be had on any other roof top in New York, or from any position other than our highest Church spires. Before us is spread the most exciting, wonderful, and instructive view to be had on our continent. The brown roofs of the buildings of the city extend over the island like a vast table land. East and North Rivers and the bay appear as if at our feet, with their myriad flotillas of the navigable world, Suburban Brooklyn, Jersey City, Hoboken, Hudson City, and Harlem are all plainly before us. Certainly not elsewhere in all New York can such another unobstructed bird's eye view be had as from the open pavilions of the Equitable Life Assurance Society's building. We find them, as well as the great roof, surrounded by a heavy, ornamental, galvanized cast-iron railing.

PRONOUNCED UNRIVALED.

We take our way down from the pavilions and roof by the winding stairway. Our attention as we reach the third floor is called to the large dining room of the Society, where all the officers and employees will be required to take their meals during business hours. The kitchen, a model in its way, is just in the rear. As we came down to the lower floor yesterday, we met a number of architects from Philadelphia who had been examining the building. Their opinion, with which we coincide, is that, for safety, strength, durability, blended with rare classical elegance, symmetry of outline, and harmonious combinations of architectural beauties, there is no rival among all the commercial buildings of the world to this property of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 82 buying 82½ selling.

The arrival of the Montana this morning from San Francisco with a fair range of assorted merchandise, imparted rather more activity to business than has been observable for the past week. Merchants in some cases had allowed their stocks to run a little short, but only a few articles had actually become scarce. Coal oil was entirely out, but with that on the Montana already here and other orders now on the way, consumers can look to a reduction of the high rates ruling for a few weeks past.

The produce market is in a healthy condition and the producers should feel no discouragement in comparing their prices with those of other parts of the country. Our exchanges up the valley note a decided advance in wheat, and the latest advices from San Francisco justify us in saying that we may expect an increased demand, there being a large amount of tonnage in waiting at that place for cargoes. The Bulletin of last Wednesday says:

"The late concession in freights has justified the taking of several vessels to load wheat for Great Britain, notwithstanding the extremely low rates for breadstuffs in England. We have now nine vessels under engagement to take wheat to Liverpool and four vessels to load flour for Asia and Australia. These vessels will carry the equivalent of 360,000 centals wheat. We are not advised as to the stock of flour and wheat in this city; but it is undoubtedly smaller than at any previous period during the past six months. A round sale of 800 tons fair shipping wheat was consummated on Monday at a figure reserved, but believed to be full up to the current rates. The demand is likely to continue active for some time."

Flour from the country mills is in better supply, and large quantities are being received daily. Bacon is duller. Mess pork and lard are in full supply. Butter and eggs may be noted as slightly declining. Large receipts of fruit and a dullness in the California markets have had a tendency to depress that article somewhat here.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW DISCOVERIES.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases, of long standing, and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering on account of the effects of secret indulgence, [illegible] absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid [illegible] thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let [illegible] guardians, friends, attend to these whom [illegible] any of these horrible [illegible] they are cared for and cured before [illegible] then immediately to Doctor Gibbon, who [illegible] made private disease his especial study [illegible] is certain to cure the most inveterate cases [illegible] cury or any injurious drugs. It is important [illegible] who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the pretended doctors who infest all cities, [illegible] of curing all diseases in a few days, [illegible] public by using the names of eminent [illegible] Europe and other places. Be therefore [illegible] strictly [illegible] or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness, [illegible] consequence of solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, [illegible] by the youth of both sexes, is almost [illegible] producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated [illegible] medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, [illegible] the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, [illegible] effects and ending of [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused [illegible] blunted intellect, loss of confidence, [illegible] approaching strangers, a dislike to form [illegible] a disposition to shun society, loss of [illegible] flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the [illegible] furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, [illegible] sweats, monomania and frequently [illegible] not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by [illegible] entire mode of treating this [illegible] effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will [illegible] rify to him that he was ever cured [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, [illegible] sacred responsibility resting upon [illegible] obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will [illegible] patient a written instrument, binding [illegible] radical and permanent cure, or make [illegible]

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has [illegible] medicines promptly forwarded, free from curiosity, to any part of the country, with directions for use, for Ten Dollars, [illegible] ter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, [illegible] Some of the self-styled doctors, [illegible] found in the daily and weekly newspapers [illegible] class and other places, are tradesmen, [illegible] lazy to work at their trades. Some [illegible] makers, newspaper carriers, intelligence [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco [illegible] will not find their Medical Institutes [illegible] find their former occupations in it. Look at the directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to [illegible] tion is to make enquiry—it will cost you [illegible] may save you many regrets; they are [illegible] cases, in eight cases out of ten, are [illegible] safety in trusting any of them until you know [illegible] what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not [illegible] exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon still [illegible] call at his office of his ability to [illegible] proposes to cure.
